

BLS for the Healthcare Provider

(Now known as HeartCode/BLS)

PLEASE READ

Many students are arriving at the skills session with the wrong certificate of completion. We can only accept the American Heart Association HeartCode/BLS for the Healthcare Provider Certificate (Now referred to as HeartCode/BLS.) When registering for Part I, be sure to only go to www.onlineaha.org.

The screenshot shows a web browser window with the URL www.onlineaha.org/courses/84. The page header includes the text "HeartCode® BLS" and navigation tabs for "Overview", "FAQs", and "Continuing Education". Below the header, there is a red icon of a laptop with the word "Online" and the number "15-1400". The main content area features a "1.75 Hour Course" priced at "$25.00" with a "QTY" dropdown and an "ADD TO CART" button. A video player is embedded on the right side of the page, showing a scene with two people in a clinical setting. The video player has a progress bar at 02:35 and an "HD" logo.

Other sites advertise this course for less money but when you arrive for the skills session you will not be permitted to participate unless you have the correct certificate. Students who have made this error must repay for the correct online course. If you have any questions please call our office at 518 629-7339.
